YORK UNITARIANS

Is an open-minded community centred around shared values of love and justice, which meets regularly on Sundays for worship (we include those from any faith tradition, or none), and on Thursdays for meditation, as well as involving ourselves in projects such as this one to raise awareness of, and funds for, important causes.

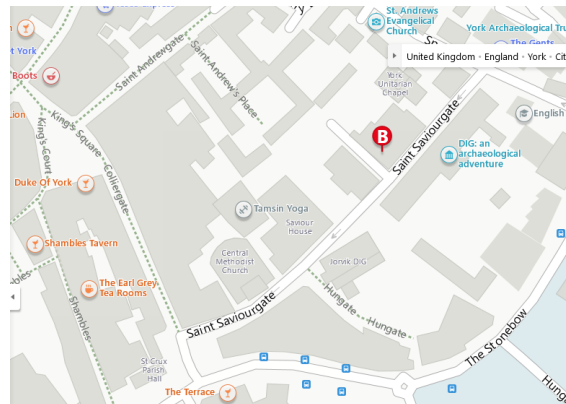

Unitarians have taken an active part in social justice issues including the legal abolition of slavery—but we know that slavery continues in many parts of the world and that although it's illegal in the UK it still exists in many forms. So for anti-slavery day this year we have chosen to try to learn more about the issue and to share our knowledge in the form of an exhibition.

For more information about the exhibition contact our social action coordinator on 01904 760749.

FIND US

York Unitarians is on the left just past York Dig if you're coming from the Petergate end of St Saviourgate. Postcode Y01 8NQ. There is no parking onsite but we are a short walk from Q-Park Shambles and Foss Bank Car Park as well as the bus stops in Stonebow.
